

HYLAN IS EXPECTED TO SERVE FULL TERM

Strong Feeling Exists That
He Will Not Be in Governorship Race.

HIS VIRTUAL PLEDGE

Announced That as Mayor
He Proposed to Continue
Fight Against Interests.

FEW CHANGES PREDICTED

Leo and O'Malley Mentioned
Among Those Who May Step Out.

Although Mayor Hylan, immersed in old problems and new, had nothing to say yesterday about either his personal political intentions or about what changes he contemplates among his department heads, gossip on these matters, centering about the City Hall, buzzed briskly. Boiling down the opinions of those that are friendly, even close, to the Mayor the predictions came to about this:

Mayor Hylan's point of view, as matters stand now, is to stay where he is, serving out his new term of four years. He voluntarily offered such a pledge in a talk he made at the Hotel Commodore in the justification of election night, saying that it was his purpose to continue the fight against "the interests" to the end of his four year term.

Speculation as to Hylan's tactical value as the next Democratic candidate for Governor persists in many quarters, but there is a strong feeling that neither the Mayor nor former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will be nominated. At the Democratic Club on election night, when many possibilities were thrashed over by Tammany politicians "in the know," this prediction was made by many, the opinion being that neither Smith nor Hylan craves a nomination for Governor at this time.

Supreme Court Inducement.

Another rumor that made conversation at least was whether the Mayor might be induced to accept a place upon the Supreme Court bench in Brooklyn, two vacancies occurring there next fall. It is believed that Hylan could have one of the places if he lifted his hand. John H. McCoey, Tammany viceroy in Chinatown, being said to favor the move, but the Mayor's friends, those who are really close to him, say privately that he is perfectly satisfied where he is. None of these speculations takes in what may be the private plans of William R. Hearst, and it is hardly doubted if Mr. Hearst is anxious for the Mayor to stand for the Governorship or for any other office that the Mayor would refuse.

Another interesting point concerns Mayor Murphy's attitude toward the Mayor. In reply to comment that Tammany would like to get Hylan out of the City Hall so that Murray Hillers, President-elect of the Board of Aldermen, could step into that post, the Mayor's friends point to the perfectly accurate fact that election night indicated fairly close harmony between Hylan and Murphy. They exchanged calls at Tammany Hall and at the Hotel Commodore, and their meetings were mutually amiable, even affable.

As regards possible changes in the city administration the Mayor's close friends hint that there will be fewer than rumor has surmised. A man in intimate official relationship with the Mayor said last evening that no changes at all would be made for some time, and that only a few might be expected; that there would be no "housecleaning," so called.

Leo Expected to Retire.

Among the politicians it is expected that John P. Leo, Commissioner of Street Cleaning, may find it expedient to retire, inasmuch as he is blamed for the defeat in Clinton of Michael Laura for Sheriff, his suspension of Laura from that department at a critical time in the campaign being the blow that is supposed to have wrecked Laura's ambitions.

Another change mentioned as possible touches Edwin J. O'Malley, Commissioner of Markets. Of course a successor to Murray Hillers as head of the Department of Docks must be found. It is well known that John H. Delaney, who managed the Mayor's campaign, could have the post, but it is doubtful if Delaney wants it. Frederick A. Wallis is mentioned as one of the possible new Commissioners.

Analysis of opinion touching Commissioner Enright as head of the Police Department shades down to this, that while Enright is expected to retire long before the new term draws to a close, it is not likely that his retirement will be a matter of a few weeks or even a few months. The guess is that Enright will remain in charge of the police for another year.

On account of the energetic work done by former United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy in behalf of Comptroller Craig, of whose campaign he was manager, it is supposed that a good place will be made in the administration for him, but McCarthy's friends said yesterday that he is more likely to go into business than into politics.

WOMAN IN ASSEMBLY BOLTS JERSEY LEADER

Mrs. Laird Resentful of Rowland's Treatment.

Mrs. Margaret Laird, Assemblywoman from Essex county, New Jersey, who was elected on a platform of modification of the Van Ness prohibition enforcement law, announced yesterday that she would not support the majority leader, Rowland, of Camden, for Speaker of the Assembly. Mrs. Laird's decision was said to be based on personal resentment for Mr. Rowland's treatment of acts introduced by her at the last session of the Legislature.

Mrs. Laird's announcement also was interpreted as notification to the Republican leaders now tentatively organizing the Assembly for the coming session that she would not let the organization halt her efforts to bring about a modification of the Van Ness act. The vote Tuesday was considered an endorsement of the Republican platform plank supporting the measure.

THANKFUL TO SEE AGAIN, HE HELPS BUILD CHURCH

Patrick Ryan, Contractor, Offers All Granite Needed for New Holy Innocents Edifice in Flatbush
After 'Miraculous' Operation.

The new Church of the Holy Innocents, at Beverly road and East Seventeenth street, Flatbush, will, when completed, express in granite the gratitude of Patrick Ryan, contractor, for the restoration of his eyesight by an operation he regards as little short of miraculous.

Mr. Ryan, who is president of the Patrick Ryan Construction Company of 26 Cortlandt street and the owner of big granite quarries in Maine, for a long time had felt his sight gradually become dimmer and dimmer. He came to believe that soon he would be blind. Recently he underwent a delicate operation which restored his sight.

While in the office of Helme & Corbett, architects of 122 West Forty-second street, the other day in connection with a contract for marble he heard the architects discussing the new Church of the Holy Innocents, of which Father Francis J. McMurray is pastor. Pastor and parishioners have been working incessantly to raise a fund to erect a new and handsome church. Mr. Ryan became interested in the church, particularly when he learned that it was the first in this country to erect a shrine to St. Rita, "the saint of the impossible," as she was known for her many miracles.

Yesterday it became known that Mr. Ryan had attended a meeting of the workers for the drive and had agreed to supply free all the granite needed in the erection of the new edifice. The cost to him will be many thousands of dollars.

STATE SAFE IN G. O. P. DESPITE CITY VOTE

Chairman Glynn, Going Over
Figures, Sees Only Normal
Republican Off Year.

Justice William S. Andrews, the Republican candidate for Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals, probably will have a plurality of between 70,000 and 75,000 over former Justice Townsend Scudder when the returns from Tuesday's election are complete. Further figures received yesterday would indicate that result.

George A. Glynn, chairman of the Republican State Committee, took the detailed figures to Gov. Nathan L. Miller at his apartment in the Plaza last night and they went over the returns carefully. Chairman Glynn is of the opinion that the Statewide vote shows no decrease in the strength of the Republican party. The falling off was only what might be expected in an off year.

Republican reverses in city and town elections here and there, Chairman Glynn told the Governor, were due to local causes in almost every case rather than to any general drift away from the Republican party.

When asked by reporters to make some comment on the results of the election in New York city and elsewhere, the Governor replied:

"As many inferences may be drawn as there are viewpoints."

The Governor, who reached the city at noon, attended a private luncheon and in the afternoon spoke at the opening of the new Harlem Health Centre. He will return to Albany late tomorrow. On Sunday in Albany he will give a reception to Gen. Diaz.

ALDERMEN KEEP UP FIGHT ON SOCIALISTS

Fail in Move to Reach Court of Appeals.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court denied yesterday an application made on behalf of the Board of Aldermen requesting permission to appeal to the Court of Appeals from a decision of the Appellate Division directing that Alcegon Lee and Edward P. Cassidy, Socialists, be seated as members of the board.

The Board of Aldermen maintains that it is the sole judge, under the law, of the fitness of such persons as shall be elected to it. It may apply to a Judge of the Court of Appeals for the permission refused by the Appellate Division yesterday.

CLARK LAYS DEFEAT TO TRANSIT POLICY

Likes Gov. Miller, but Not His Theories—Meyer Probe Got Practically Nothing.

Resentment by the people of New York city at the passage by a Republican Legislature last winter of the bill creating the Transit Commission was chiefly responsible for the overwhelming majority received by Mayor Hylan and the rest of the Democratic ticket in the municipal election last Tuesday.

John Kirkland Clark, defeated coalition candidate for District Attorney, told members of the Republican Club of One Hundred yesterday at the Plaza Hotel.

"It is no easy task for a corpse to sit up in his coffin and make an autopsy upon himself," said Mr. Clark, "but, like a man who has been hit by an automobile, I would like to try to get its number for future use. The people of New York city do not like Gov. Miller's trend of mind. In a democracy people govern themselves, and for years the people of this city have been educated by all the newspapers to believe they had that right."

"This year the Legislature created a body superior to local authority and gave it the power to alter contracts entered into by the city. Even though the emergency was great, the people here resented this bitterly. It is my personal opinion and nine out of ten in New York also believe that the appointment of the Transit Commission was for the purpose of working out a higher fare. Gov. Miller is an able lawyer and administrator and I admire him as a man, but I disagree with him fundamentally on many of his theories. The passage of the traction bill was responsible for the result Tuesday more than any other thing."

"Then there was a situation among the colored people which added from 20,000 to 40,000 votes to the Democratic majority. I live in a colored district and, although it was strong for Hylan, it elected a Republican Assemblyman. The Hylan vote was due to skillful propaganda worked by municipal officers. The figures show that a majority of the people regard the Republican party as a class party in which the poor are not welcomed. It is up to us to change this idea and we have got to wake up to it."

"There was no glaring failure in the Hylan administration that you could point out. There was his failure to build schools, of course, but the war was going on and many people felt it was wrong to build schools at the expense of houses when the housing situation was so acute. However, Curran didn't receive the credit he should have received for the law exempting new buildings from taxation."

"The Meyer committee, which came down here from up-State, found nothing outstanding which would appeal to the imagination. I never have believed that Hylan ever took any money and nothing was planned on him in the way of dishonesty, although he has been guilty of political practices that I would not approve of."

BANK ROBBED OF $10,000.

OMAHA, Nov. 10.—Three bandits held up the Fordyce State Bank at Fordyce, Neb., today, locked F. A. Leise, cashier, and two assistants in the vault and escaped in an automobile with about $10,000.

BANDITS SHACKLE AND ROB GROCER

THREE CAUGHT IN CAR

Detective's Bullet Halts Men
Accused of Stealing an Automobile.

Two young bandits, armed with pistols, entered a chain grocery store at 233 Throop avenue, Brooklyn, within a block of the Gates avenue police station, yesterday, held up Trevor Barnes, the manager, forced him to let them shackle his hands behind his back with handcuffs and stole $20.55 from the cash register. A few minutes later Patrolman Scheibel captured, after a short struggle in a basement at 426 Lexington avenue, Bruno Akunevich, 16, of 24 Grand street, Brooklyn, and William Lexis, 20, of 45 Lexington avenue. The police say each had a pistol and that the pockets of the pair contained exactly $20.55.

Barnes was alone in the store when the youths entered. They asked for crackers and when he turned back from getting them he was confronted with two revolvers and an order to throw up his hands. After rifling the cash register they backed out and ran. Barnes says, toward Lexington avenue. Barnes pursued and his cries brought Patrolman Scheibel, who ran to Lexington avenue and saw two men running into No. 476. The door was locked when he got there, but he forced it and began to search the house, finding Akunevich and Lexis downstairs, and taking them to the Gates avenue station, where he charged them with robbery and with violation of the Sullivan law. The police say Barnes suffered both.

None of the police keys would fit Barnes' handcuffs and they finally took him to a garage and had the shackles saved off.

Two armed men attacked David Garoff, 32, 49 East Sixty-third street, as he was opening his door on the fourth floor, beset him into insensibility and threw him into his apartment. Garoff recovered and went to Flower Hospital, where he had treatment for scalp wounds caused by the butt of a revolver, he said. Garoff was not robbed and does not know the object of the attack. Garoff is employed by the Third avenue railroad.

Raymond Youngland, 28, of 29 West Fifty-first street, a striking milk driver, who claimed he was the victim of holdup men, was taken from Central Park to Roosevelt Hospital with a bullet wound in his hip. Youngland said he was at Seventy-seventh street on the West Drive, when bandits with pistols started to search him. He struck at one of them, he said, and the other shot him. Then both ran. Youngland said he did not have a cent of money or any other valuables.

James Harrison, 229 East Thirty-third street; Richard Burns, 251 East Thirtieth street; and Henry Farley, 352 East Thirtieth street, were arrested by Detective Gillman of the East Twenty-ninth street station in a car they are alleged to have stolen from in front of the Manhattan Club, Twenty-sixth street and Madison avenue. Gillman says he saw the trio climb into the car and start off, with Farley driving. He shouted but they paid no attention, and he pursued on foot, at last firing a shot which struck the windshield. They brought the car to a halt at Twenty-sixth street and Third avenue, he says, and surrendered.

Five men in an automobile drove up to 140 West Seventy-second street Tuesday night. It was learned yesterday, overpowered a watchman, forced their way through a door guarded with a burglar alarm device, and stole furs valued at $50,000 from Shipman & Co., furriers. Before detectives from a private agency could respond to the burglar alarm the thieves had disappeared with an automobile load of loot.

A door at the fur store of Cohen, Greenberg & Co., 134 West Twenty-ninth street, was jammed open Sunday, the men disregarding a burglar alarm here, also, and $25,000 worth of fur coats stolen. A patrolman was on the spot in ten minutes, but too late to catch the thieves. This store is just around the corner from the West Thirtieth street station.

Thieves entered the apartment of A. Kuzman, 512 West 111st street, Friday, and stole $3,125 in cash and jewelry. Mrs. Frederick E. Bright of 417 Park avenue lost by theft a $8,000 ring of emeralds and diamonds about two weeks ago.

65 MARINES GUARD MAIL TRUCKS TO-DAY

200 More Soon to Take Places
at Important Postal Stations in Vicinity.

Sixty-five marines from the Navy Yard in Brooklyn, in command of Capt. Norman C. Bates, will report this morning to Postmaster Edward M. Morgan at the General Post Office and will be assigned immediately to guard trucks carrying valuable mail. Two hundred more marines will arrive in this city from near by stations tomorrow or Sunday for guard duty on mail cars, at the General Post Office, the downtown branch in City Hall Park and at the five mail terminals in Jersey City.

About 40,000 circulars giving a complete description of the stocks, bonds and other valuable papers stolen in the Leonard street holdup on October 21 were received by Postmaster Morgan and were mailed immediately to banks, brokerage houses and post offices in the Eastern postal division.

At the top of the first page of the circular there is announced a reward of $20,000, or $5,000 for each bandit convicted. This indicates there are four robbers wanted instead of three, as formerly supposed. There were only three men in the bandit party that held up the truck in Leonard street, according to information in the hands of post office inspectors. It is evident from the reward, however, that another man is suspected of being in league with the robbers, and it is not at all improbable that he worked from the inside.

The total of the loot is approximately $2,000,000, including $37,000 in cash and between $800 and $100,000 worth of securities. The descriptions of the securities listed are practically the same as given out from time to time since the holdup and are a few changes in details of amounts, owing to market prices.

TRAFFIC POLICEMEN ARE FINAL ARBITERS

Disobedience of Signals Puts Responsibility of Accident on Negligent Party.

NOVEL POINT IN LAW

Jury Decides Against Bicyclist
Who Was in Collision
With Automobile.

Traffic policemen are the sole arbiters with their signals in regulating traffic and disobeying them puts all responsibility upon the negligent party, according to a verdict which was rendered last evening in the Queens Supreme Court before Justice Croppsey.

Jacob Stoehr, 45 years, of 24 Johnson avenue, Jamaica, sued to recover $5,000 damages from James E. Wilcox, a lawyer, residing at Elmhurst. On June 20, 1920, Wilcox was driving an automobile at Hillside and Flushing avenues, Jamaica. Stoehr was riding a bicycle, going in an opposite direction. Both men were held up by the traffic policeman until traffic going in a cross direction had passed. Then a signal was given for the other traffic to move. Wilcox, after starting his automobile, gave a signal to the policeman that he wished to turn around the corner, and the policeman at once held up his hand for the traffic to let him pass. Stoehr either did not see this latter signal or disobeyed it. There was a collision of the automobile and bicycle, and Stoehr was so injured that he was confined to his bed for five weeks.

In his defence Wilcox claimed that the policeman had given him the right of way, and hence he was fully in his rights. In his charge to the jury Justice Croppsey told the jury that they would have to consider if Stoehr had done anything that showed him to be negligent. The jury decided that the disregard of the policeman's signal was such negligence, and returned a verdict for the driver of the automobile.

Attorneys for Stoehr said that because of the importance of the question involved an appeal would probably be taken in order to get a ruling of the higher courts.

WHALEN TO SEEK BIDS FOR NEW FERRYBOATS

Wants Three Electrically Driven Craft Built.

Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, stated yesterday that he will ask soon for bids for the construction of three high powered electrically driven ferryboats to be placed in service between Manhattan and Staten Island to meet the demands of vehicle traffic to and from the new city piers at Stapleton. The boats will have four runways for vehicles on the main deck and accommodations for passengers on the upper deck. Steel will be used largely in construction.

"... shall not have died in vain"

THREE years ago this morning, the last trigger was pressed—the last lanyard pulled.

And a great shout went from the lips and a great load went from the hearts of the sons and daughters of men.

There were ears that did not hear that shout; there were hearts that had given the last full measure of devotion and were forever still.

Today one of them is laid at rest in Arlington—nameless but with an eternal name.

And it is more than a beautiful symbol that the envoys who cast a sod upon his grave meet tomorrow to carry on the task which he began for us in France—which may mean the ending of war forever.

And in this work each one of us must bear his part—for our liberty and our faith are, in reality, only the finest fruits of the nation's labor—not to be cheaply attained.
